The Honorable Governor Roy Barnes

Dear Governor Barnes:

On January 11, 2000, twenty year old Isaac Dawkins was shot and killed while driving his truck on Highway 27 into Rome.

The case continues to be actively investigated by the Criminal Investigative Unit of the Rome Police Department, the Floyd County Police Department, and the Georgia Bureau of Investigation, however, several leads have come to a standstill.

I respectfully request the Governor's Office post a $5,000 reward for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for this heinous crime. I feel the reward will generate some activity in the case, and hopefully assist us in solving this murder.

Sincerely,

Barnes donates to reward fund

By Susan M. Kirkland
Rome News-Tribune staff writer

Gov. Roy Barnes issued an executive order contributing an additional $3,000 to the reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person responsible for the shooting death of Isaac A. Dawkins.

Barnes

A $10,000 reward fund was established earlier by Georgia Power employees at Plant Hammond where Dawkins' father worked and by the Friends of Isaac Dawkins fund at Greater Rome Bank.

"The donation, along with $2000 from an unknown source, has put the reward to around $15,000," said Capt. Marshall Smith, chief detective of the Rome Police Department.

Dawkins, 20, was shot and killed on his way home from Floyd College in January.

With no witnesses and no leads, the police department remains baffled.

In an effort to move the stalled investigation, Hubert Smith, Rome police chief, wrote Barnes asking for assistance.

"We hope this will encourage someone to come forward," Smith said.

The police department is also considering expanding the search for information to other areas, including Tennessee, Alabama and South Georgia.

"We've advertised in this area with no new information," Smith said.

Dawkins was returning home on Jan. 11 from Floyd College, where he was a student. He was driving on U.S. 27 near Primrose Road.

Witnesses saw his 1994 Toyota pickup leave the road and cross two lanes of oncoming traffic. The truck rolled once before resting upright off the right of way, according to the accident report.

The hearing is before the County Elections Board, Free, chairman, Democratic Ricky Smith and Representative Tony Farrell.

Smith, responsible for Democrat candidates, said he filed qualifying forms for the election days past the deadline.

He said a packet of election he received from the State's office did not include a necessary form.

$15,000 REWARD

On January 11th, 2000, Isaac Dawkins was leaving Floyd College in a white Toyota truck with blue strips on each side, a tool box in the bed and fog lights on the front. He turned right on a 4-lane highway, 27 South, heading towards home. This road leads into Rome, Georgia, but it also leads towards Bartow County and Atlanta, Georgia. He went through a big intersection, started up a slight hill near the Coca-Cola Plant that is on the left, 5 to 6 miles from the school. Traveling an estimated speed of 55 mph, he passed a car, so he was in the left hand lane when his truck then veered off the road into the oncoming traffic, hitting a guard rail and flipping over. He was transported to Floyd Medical Center. A bullet had interred the rear window of his truck, hitting him in the head. He died 24 hours later from a gun shot wound to the right side of his head. There is currently a $15,000 reward for any information resulting in the arrest and consequent conviction of the person or persons responsible for the death of Isaac Dawkins.
